Jefferson Parish East Bank Regional Library Installing New Air Conditioning Equipment in Special Collections Department

Advanced Notice Required to View Special Collections Items During Installation

The Jefferson Parish Library will begin installing new air conditioning equipment in the East Bank Regional Library Special Collections Department beginning Monday, April 19. The new air conditioner will allow better climate control for the popular Special Collections items and will include a backup generator.

During the installation, library users will not be able to enter the Special Collections area. Library users may be able to view Special Collections items by requesting specific titles at the Reference Desk with 24-hour advanced notice. Other services that are available only in the Special Collections department, such as microfilm, will not be available during the installation.

The Special Collections area will reopen in approximately one month when the work above the ceiling is completed.

For more information, contact the Jefferson Parish Library at 838-1100.
