JEFFERSON PARISH PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT AWARDED THE ROADSIDE EXCELLENCE AWARD

Jefferson Parish Public Works Department of Parkways received the Roadside Excellence Award from the National Roadside Vegetation Management Association (NRVMA) on September 24, 2009.

NRVMA is an educational, non-profit organization dedicated to providing expertise, solutions and networking opportunities to personnel involved in integrated roadside vegetation management. It is a network of federal, state, county, city, university and industry personnel working to create and maintain safe, beautiful roadsides.

The award was presented to the Parkways Department, represented by Lance Stansberry, Superintendent III and Don Cole, Horticulturist, for its grass cutting program, herbicide application and tree maintenance program on medians and canals. Kai Adams, Director of Parkways was unable to attend this function.

Jefferson Parish received the award in the County/Parish category at this year's annual NRVMA convention in San Antonio, Texas.
